

As a single, working mother of two beautiful daughters, when we have time together, I want it to be our time. I don't want the time we do get to spend together interrupted by bankers calling me to sell me another one of their products. I will see the information posted in the bank or they can include it in their monthly statements. It does not mean they should have the right to call me whenever they choose. That's why I subscribed with the Attorney General's Office No Call List. I do not want unwanted solicitation.

Sincerely,

Tracy Dawson, MSW, LCSW
